DEATH PLUNGE 'WAS MURDER'

Man whose girlfriend fell from 14th-floor window is jailed for 17 years

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

A MAN whose girlfriend plunged to her death from a 14th-floor window of a tower block has been jailed for 17 years for her murder.

David Douglas, 44, of Elizabeth Blackwell House, Progress Way, Wood Green, was found guilty at Southwark Crown Court last week of killing 43-year-old Dora Matthews.

Police were called just before 5am on December 19 2013 following reports of an unconscious woman at the foot of the block.

Officers discovered that Ms Matthews had visited Douglas's flat and spent the night. Residents said they had heard the couple arguing over the course of the evening and into the early hours of the morning.

Ms Matthews had been heard to shout "stop", "let me go" and "get off me" and there was a sound similar to furniture being dragged across the floor. CCTV footage showed Douglas leaving his flat at 4.56am and looking towards where Ms Matthews's body was lying before walking away.

Later that day, Douglas went to Tottenham police station with a prepared statement and was arrested and bailed. He was charged two months later.

After he was sentenced last Wednesday, Detective Chief Inspector Noel McHugh, of the Homicide and Major Crime Command, said: "I would like to thank all of our brave witnesses who supported us. Dora Matthews was wearing a coat and had her car keys in her hand when she was found."

"This clearly indicates that she had been trying to leave. It is clear from witness accounts that Dora was subjected to sustained verbal, physical and psychological abuse by Douglas throughout the course of their volatile five-year relationship.

Crime scene: The view from the balcony from which Dora Matthews fell to her death

"I would urge anyone who is suffering domestic abuse not to suffer in silence and to have the confidence to contact the police or a recognised charity."

"Dora's family are keen that her death shines a light on abusive relationships. The abuser will always make you feel you were in the wrong – it's part of their psychological control – but we are here to protect you."

Douglas had been convicted five times of domestic abuse against Ms Matthews and was subject to a restraining order at the time of her death.

Ms Matthews's daughter Bianca, 24, said: "This is justice for my mum. She died at the hands of someone who should have made her feel safe. The murder squad and the CPS have been exceptional and it's only through our tragedy that you realise how hard they all worked."

"Through one person's actions we have been robbed of an amazing mum, grandmother and friend."

BBC searches for an actor to play Duggan

THE BBC is advertising for an actor to play Mark Duggan – the Tottenham man whose fatal shooting by police in 2011 sparked riots – for a drama documentary it is making.

The working title Lawfully Killed refers to the verdict of last year's inquest when a jury found the 29-year-old father-of-six, pictured, had been unarmed after throwing away a gun, but was lawfully shot by armed officers after they had stopped a minicab he was travelling in along Ferry Lane, Tottenham Hale.

The Daily Mail has accused the BBC of pursuing an agenda and challenging the verdict, a claim it denies. A statement issued by a BBC spokesman said: "The film will tell the story from a 360-degree point of view, looking at the 24 hours leading up to the shooting, telling the story from multiple perspectives and asking questions that remain surrounding Mark's death."

Canal boat saved

FIREFIGHTERS saved a stricken canal boat from capsizing by pumping 20 tonnes of water out of Tottenham Lock on the River Lee on Monday morning.

The 55-foot-long boat was negotiating the lock close to Ferry Lane when it started sinking and ended up partially submerged. One man escaped uninjured from the vessel.

Fire crews from Tottenham, Edmonton, Homerton, Stoke Newington and Walthamstow helped pump the water from the lock to stabilise the vessel and make it safe.

Lammy blasts council over temporary library closure

DAVID Lammy has slammed Haringey Council for a failure to consult the public properly over the six-month temporary closure of a Tottenham library.

The Tottenham MP has claimed there has been "poor consultation with users" over the closure of the Marcus Garvey library, in Philip Lane, which is scheduled to shut at the end of the month.

More than £3 million is being spent to refurbish the library, which will also see some of the council's customer services relocated to it from Apex House, on the corner of High Road and Seven Sisters Road, which is to be demolished and redeveloped for new homes.

"I am very concerned that the only 'alternative arrangements' put in place by the council during the library's closure are 'go to a different library'," Mr Lammy said.

"Many young people in Tottenham simply do not have the space at home to study. They rely on being able to use desks in the Marcus Garvey Library to do their homework and revise for exams."

He added that he had spoken to the leader of the council Claire Kober, but was "still not satisfied" that the concerns of the community had been addressed "adequately".

Police put up £20,000 reward over stabbing

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

OFFICERS investigating the fatal stabbing of a teenager earlier this year are now offering a reward of £20,000 to anyone who can help convict his killer.

Shaquan Sammy-Plummer, 17, was attacked in Berkeley Gardens, Winchmore Hill, on Friday January 30 at about 9.30pm.

Paramedics and the police arrived on the scene and the teen was rushed to the Royal London Hospital, in Whitechapel, east London. He died a short time later. The cause of death was a single stab wound to the chest.

Police returned to the scene of the stabbing yesterday to speak again to residents in the area in a bid to jog memories of that night.

Officers have said they believe Shaquan, from Islington, was with two friends when he became caught up in a fight that escalated.

Although his friends battled to save his life, his injuries were too severe.

Investigating officer Detective Chief Inspector Jamie Piscopo, from the murder squad, said: "We still don't know what the fight that led to Shaquan's death was about and we hope the offer of £20,000 may encourage someone with information, no matter how small, to come forward."

"Were you in Berkeley Gardens that night? Did you see or hear anything suspicious? Have you heard talk since about what happened to Shaquan? Please contact us."

The teenager's mother made an impassioned plea for people to help.

Jessica Plummer said: "I would be very grateful if the people who witnessed my son's death could come forward to provide the police with information to bring those responsible to justice."

Anyone with information can call the incident room on 020 8345 3775 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

A 17-year-old girl from Winchmore Hill, a 17-year-old boy from Edmonton and a 19-year-old man from Winchmore Hill were arrested earlier this year on suspicion of murder and have been released on bail until the end of September pending further inquiries.

A 29-year-old woman from Edmonton was arrested on suspicion of assisting an offender and has also been bailed until the end of next month.

Stabbing victim: Shaquan Sammy-Plummer died after being attacked in Winchmore Hill

Another 17-year-old boy from Edmonton was arrested on suspicion of perverting the course of justice and he, too, will remain on bail until the end of September pending further inquiries.

Four other people who were arrested in connection with the stabbing have been released without charge.

A SERIES of guided walks through historical points of interest in the borough will kick off this weekend.

The first of four tours takes place on Sunday, with experts on hand to bring the past back to life. The walkers can learn about the electric past of Ponders End, where the Ediswan factory – which began mass production of electric lights and provided employment to hundreds of the area's residents – was founded in 1883.

The factories clustered around the Lee Valley navigation network produced industrial innovations and were the birthplace of inventions including the water heater and vacuum flask.

Experts will be talking history to walkers

As well as learning about the industry that brought thousands of workers to the area at the turn of the 20th century, walkers will hear about the role it played in World War I, with rifles and gunpowder, crucial to the war effort, produced in and around Ponders End.

The four walks, which are part of the celebrations marking the 50th anniversary of the London borough of Enfield, will take in Enfield Town, Palmers Green and Angel Edmonton, as well as Ponders End, and are free to join – but places can be booked in advance via <http://www.eventbrite.co.uk/o/enfield-council-8343985888?s=4189095>

The meeting point for this weekend's walk will be Ponders End railway station, in South Street, at 2pm.

The guided walk through Palmers Green will take place on September 8, the walk through Enfield Town is planned for September 27 and the tour through the streets of Angel Edmonton is due to take place on October 18.

'We'll keep shopping locally,' vows Sitkin

By Shafi Mussadique
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

ENFIELD Council is helping struggling businesses in the borough and boosting the economy by buying more of the supplies and services it requires from local firms.

Figures released by the council show that more than a third of its spending ends up in the hands of businesses in the borough. That exceeds the target set by the government requiring that 25 per cent of money spent on procurement by local authorities stays in the community.

The council says it sources items from local businesses to bring greater value to the economy and the environment, in particular reducing carbon footprints as part of the Enfield 2020 programme for long-term sustainability.

Alan Sitkin, cabinet member for economie regeneration and businesses development, says he is determined to do all he can to make sure people shop locally and work together, placing particular emphasis on advertising job creation in the borough.

He said: "These new figures show, clearly, that Enfield is putting its money where its mouth is, boosting local businesses and making our borough a place to invest and build. It's a real ethical approach to business that benefits the entire borough."

Mr Sitkin also confirmed plans for setting up new town teams providing advice for businesses in Enfield.

The announcement comes after the Enfield Businesses and Retailers Association, which provides support for local businesses, had funding withdrawn by the council, resulting in its closure next year.

Plenty of fun in the sun

CHILD'S play was the rule of the day as thousands of youngsters lapped up endless fun at Enfield Council's take on National Play Day last week.

With summer holidays under way, the fun under the sun included bouncy castles, face painting, dance workshops, arts and crafts and an under-fives play area organised by Asquith Day Nurseries.

More than 1,500 people turned up at Enfield Town Park to bask in all manner of creative activities organised by the council's play team.

Ayfer Orhan, cabinet member for education and children's services, encouraged parents to take part in playful activities with their children.

She said: "This special day recognises that children's play is the foundation for their learning and happiness – it is their right."

"This summer, I hope that Enfield's children take full advantage of the free activities at centres throughout the borough and the adventure places in our parks."

Ricky Williams, the council's play development manager, added that it was the team's favourite day of the year.

He said: "We get to see hundreds of happy faces playing, creating and enjoying."

High standard: Karl Brown, organiser of the Palmers Scream Festival, which takes place on October 31

Short stories pour in as youngsters up fear factor

EXCITEMENT is mounting as Palmers Green's literati pore over hundreds of short stories in a bid to chose the spookiest of them all.

Since the competition – to find the scariest story penned by children from schools in and around the Palmers Green area – was launched at the start of the summer, almost 200 youngsters have put pen to paper to tell their tales.

Palmers Scream Festival organiser Karl Brown has told the Advertiser that after weeks of reading, the judging panel, made up of a raft of local authors, including Alex Woolf, who launched the competition in June at Walker Primary School, in Waterfall Road, Southgate, is on the verge of announcing the six winners.

"I am told that the standard of entries has been exceptionally high," said Karl.

"The announcement of the winning entries will be made next month and there are some great prizes for those winners."

The victorious entrants will each win a hoody, a badge and a copy of the book Palmers Scream – a collection of ghost stories from the area – as well as tickets to guided walks around the spooky sites featured in the book.

On top of their prizes, Karl reveals there is talk of a drama group bringing the winning stories to life as part of Palmers Scream.

The festival is due to take place in Broomfield Park on All Hallows' Eve on October 31 – celebrating all things Halloween.

"Our celebration is designed to be more treat than trick and to celebrate the light rather than the dark aspects of Halloween," Karl added.

Attention: DENTURE WEARERS Attention: DENTURE REPAIRS

If you are a denture wearer then this article may be of some interest to you!
If you can relate to any of the following questions then it is a sign your denture needs attention:

- DO YOU FIND YOUR DENTURES:
• Do not fit as well on your gums as they used to?
- Are they loose?
- Do not cut food as well as they used to?
- Do they make your face look older?
- Have discoloured despite meticulous cleaning or
- Cause discomfort/pain on chewing?

If any of the above breeds familiar territory then I may be able to alleviate some of these problems for you.

My name is Caroline Persaud I am a qualified CLINICAL DENTAL TECHNICIAN. Many of you may be aware of Dental Technicians/Mechanics who repair and produce dentures for dentists, however, due to recent changes in the Dental law, a group of Dental Care Professionals known as Clinical Dental Technicians have been approved by the General Dental Council and can now see denture wearers who have no natural teeth remaining, directly without having to visit a dentist.

The advantages to you, the patients, are numerous. You can be treated by a professional who has been clinically trained to undertake the impressions of your mouth and who also has the technical skill to manufacture your denture to meet your requirements.

A more direct, rapid and personalised service, that can be delivered to you in the comfort of your own home or at my day clinic in Edmonton.

Full house as revellers flock to inaugural dance festival

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

TEN thousand festival-goers had a blast as they partied to pulsating electronic dance music in Trent Park on Saturday.

The park, not generally known for hardcore raves, was the venue for the inaugural 51st State Festival featuring a gathering of some of house music's most legendary and influential artists, from both sides of the Atlantic, in a celebration of the musical genre's roots.

Headline acts including New York duo Masters at Work and fellow Big Apple residents Tony Morales and Dennis Ferrer featured among a spectacular line-up of 60 artists and DJs performing club bangers and dance anthems across six separate stages.

But not everything went without a hitch as festival promoters Found were forced to make a public apology to thousands of fans who had to queue for hours to get in while waiting to go through security checks.

Mum and children flee flat as blaze rips through restaurant

By Shafi Musaddique

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A WOMAN and two children escaped unharmed after a blaze which ripped through a restaurant threatened to spread to flats above.

Nearly 60 firefighters battled for more than two hours to bring the fire at the Caribbean Junction, in Taplow Road, Palmers Green, under control on Wednesday morning last week.

The mother and her two children were able to flee to safety from their flat above the restaurant, minutes before the fire brigade arrived on the scene.

Station manager Nick Harding said: "The ground, first floor and roof of the building were alight when we arrived and the roof had collapsed. Crews used an aerial ladder platform to fight the fire from the front of the building, as well as from the back of the restaurant where there is access to the flat."

Scaffolding now surrounds the shell of the building at the junction of North Circular Road and Great Cambridge Road.

The cause of the fire, which broke out at 9am, is being investigated.

Town centre bosses face the axe over funding cut

A NOT-FOR-PROFIT organisation responsible for creating partnerships between businesses in the borough and communities is set to close after having its funding withdrawn by Enfield Council.

Despite its independent status, the Enfield Business and Retail Association announced it would be dismantled at the end of the current tax year, in March 2016.

With little time to find alternative sources of funding, town centre managers are likely to be made redundant.

Mark Rudling, chief of town centre management at EBRA, is set to lose his job and said the decision by the council would be a loss to businesses and the local community.

He said: "It's very sad that after many years of building close working relationships with so many retail businesses and members of the communities in Enfield's main town centres, it will shortly be coming to an end."

Two more are charged over Hatton Garden jewel heist

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

A WOMAN and a man from Enfield are the latest suspects to be charged in connection with the Hatton Garden jewel heist in April.

Terri Robinson, 35, of Sterling Road, and 45-year-old Brenn Walters, also known as Ben Perkins, of Manor Court, were charged last week under Section 327 of the Proceeds of Crime Act.

Robinson, who was arrested on June 14, and Walters, who was arrested on May 19, have both been bailed to appear at Westminster Magistrates' Court on Thursday August 27.

Nine people previously charged with conspiracy to burgle and conspiracy to launder money appeared at Southwark Crown Court on June 4 and were remanded in custody to appear at Woolwich Crown Court on September 4.

Among them were three Enfield men – Hugh Doyle, 48 of Riverside Gardens, Terry Perkins, 67, of Heene Road, and Daniel Jones, 58, of Park Avenue, Bush Hill Park.

A further three individuals – a 45-year-old man, a 59-year-old woman, and a 40-year-old woman – have also been interviewed under caution in connection with the investigation.

Concerns grow for man missing from hospital

CONCERNS are growing for the welfare of a man with mental health problems who has gone missing from Chase Farm Hospital.

Chandrakant Shah, 66,

pictured left, was last seen at the hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, at 9.45am on Monday.

He suffers from bipolar depression and is described as Asian, 5ft 2ins tall and of slim build, with receding hair.

He is said to walk with a hunch and has several teeth missing.

He was last seen wearing a grey T-shirt, dark jogging bottoms and black trainers.

Anyone with information on Mr Shah's whereabouts can call police on 101 or Missing People on 116000.

YOU ARE INVITED TO

A FREE ASSESSMENT AND VALUATION DAY

You are invited to attend our assessment, valuation and purchase day, where TOP PRICES are agreed and offered.

Just bring along your chosen items; our valuer will give you a free appraisal and a current estimation of value. We will then discuss your best course of action and either make an offer of purchase or provide advice on your other options.

Antiques television programmes have made people more aware of the potential value of their belongings, however, the best method of realising the true cash value is not always made clear.

There are many items that are not so obviously valuable and this is where the professional valuer's expertise comes in.

There are times when the exposure of an auction is beneficial – let our experts help you to decide, but many items, where a known or intrinsic value can be simply assessed such as Gold, are just not suited for sale at auction.

Without advice, auctions can actually LOSE you money. After weeks of waiting, and assuming your item sells - commission charges, premiums and taxes reduce your likely share to only two thirds of the total transaction payment!

This is how we are able to offer you a high purchase figure as there's no premium for us and NO STOPPAGES for you, just an immediate cash settlement.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Richard Power feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and Richard is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Richard a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Time for a break: Zac Goldsmith, centre, chats with Yvonne Lawson, whose son Godwin died after being stabbed in 2010. Former Enfield North MP Nick De Bois, who was instrumental in changing the law on knife crime, listens in

New housing is key for would-be mayor Goldsmith

Millionaire candidate rejects any suggestion that his background will count against him

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE man hoping to be crowned as the Conservative candidate in the race to be the next Mayor of London is adamant that his millionaire status will not alienate voters.

On a visit last week to his campaign director Nick de Bois's former Enfield North constituency, Zac Goldsmith, Conservative MP for Richmond and mayoral hopeful, insisted that his background would not cost him votes.

He said: "Londoners are not going to elect someone based on where they come from – I don't think that's the way it works at all."

"The question people have is two-fold – do they like my priorities and do they think I can actually deliver them?"

Defending current mayor Boris Johnson's time in office, during which thousands of families have been rehoused from homes in the inner city to "cheaper" outer London boroughs, including Enfield, Mr Goldsmith told the Advertiser: "I think Boris has done a magnificent job."

Mr Goldsmith suggested that the key to solving London's housing crisis lay in building more homes.

He explained that in Kingston, in south-west London, where he comes from, just eight per cent of people could afford to buy a property, adding: "That problem is only going to get worse."

"The bottom line is that you've got to build more. You probably have to double the rate of building we've seen over the past 20 years."

As one who wore his environmental credentials proudly and has been a vocal opponent of a fourth runway at Heathrow, Mr Goldsmith said there was no need to build on green belt land, explaining: "Even the most conservative estimates tell us that there is enough land, enough brownfield land available for nearly half-a-million new homes, so the job is to get that land."

He also admitted that the issue of overseas businessmen buying up housing in the capital as a way of investing their money was "a real problem", adding: "I understand why foreign investors want to do that – but it's not in London's interest. We need London buyers first wherever that can possibly happen."

Mr Goldsmith was in Hertford Road, Enfield Lock, to hear from Yvonne Lawson, anti-knife crime campaigner and co-architect of Enfield's Law.

Her son Godwin was stabbed to death in Hackney in 2010 when he tried to help friends who had been attacked by a gang of youths.

After her son's death, Mrs Lawson set up the Godwin Lawson Foundation and has been campaigning against knife crime ever since.

Alongside Mr de Bois, she was the driving force behind the law change, which came into effect last month. Anyone caught carrying a knife for the second time now faces an automatic prison sentence.

Mrs Lawson, who works with young people to educate them about alternatives to gang life, said: "I always knew that the law was very weak regarding knife crime and it didn't deter young people because as much as they wanted to change their lives the law kind of encouraged them to reoffend."

□ The Conservatives have not yet announced when the final selection for the party's mayoral candidate will take place.

Life president – Enfield Over-50s Forum

HAVE you found much sympathy, understanding or even admiration for Gill Pharaoh, the former nurse with no serious medical problems, who at the age of 75 ended her life at a Swiss suicide clinic?

After caring for those nearing the end of their lives, she concluded: "I do not think old age is fun."

I think it very sad and regrettable that someone not suffering from a terminal illness, not living alone and who is not depressed, in debt or living in poor housing, could choose an assisted death instead of joining with so many of us in enjoying our later life.

With nearly two million pensioners still living in poverty on less than 60 per cent of average income, I do realise that being old can't be much fun for many people.

But it would surely be awful if the idea gained ground that suicide is the way out of getting old.

I much prefer the forum's way – celebrating our age with singing and a bit of dancing on the International Day of Older People at the Angel Community Centre on Thursday October 1 (call 020 7807 2076 for details).

People are, in general, living longer than ever before. Our priority ought to be seeing that our extra years are spent with good health, good friends, active in body and mind, so that our all-round quality of life is the best it can be. There would then be no need for suicide clinics.

Why we should welcome police body cameras

I WAS pleased to hear Mayor of London Boris Johnson's announcement that the majority of our Metropolitan Police officers on the beat will be getting body-worn cameras within the next year.

This is good news for Londoners, not only making our communities safer places to live, but also allowing local people to hold the police to account.

I hope that the Met Police will draw up workable rules that tell officers when they need to have that camera switched on, so that residents can still have the confidence to approach their local neighbourhood bobby for a private conversation whenever they want.

Lady Doreen Lawrence, whose son Stephen was murdered in a racist attack in 1993, has suggested that these cameras should be switched on during every stop-and-search to ensure that they are conducted appropriately. Meanwhile, these cameras could result in huge savings in police and court time.

If they work well and are not seen as a threat, over time we may be able to roll them out to other front-line workers – such as transport and health workers – whom we rely on to keep London safe and moving.

Clearly someone does not understand trees

THE trees in Cecil Road, Enfield, were apparently part of the Enfield highways department's maintenance programme last month.

Seventy per cent of the urban canopy was removed.

But it all came as a big surprise to residents on July 22 when three trees, including a healthy-looking, 200-year-old horse chestnut were ruthlessly chopped down.

Any gardener knows brutal pruning of trees during midsummer, when the sap is rising, opens the tree to disease and could kill it.

This is complete mismanagement and disregard for the welfare of the trees, the native birds, bats and insects (and in the conservation area).

Next spring when the bees come looking for pollen they won't find any here. The wonder of an urban tree canopy counteracts car pollution. A tree can't photo synthesise without leaves.

Obviously, somebody in the council doesn't understand trees. They are whole ecosystems sustaining life.

People are now more informed about their environment and wildlife. So, Enfield Council and Transport for London, don't think you can take out older and veteran trees on highways, like you have in the past, and no one is going to ask questions.

I'm not in favour of keeping trees that are genuinely a danger to the public, but not being in the right place isn't good enough.

The veteran horse chestnut tree in Cecil Road had been respected throughout 100 years of town planning in Enfield, until last month.

I hope this is nothing to do with the proposed cycle ways through the town. A formal complaint has been submitted to the council.

If you have an appreciation for trees and nature, please join Save Enfield's Trees Facebook group and why not write a letter to the Advertiser?

Keep us informed about the trees in your road. Enfield was known as the borough of a million trees, the last official list I've seen is 25,000.

Ambulance: Should people be able to text for help?

Those in need should also be able to text 999

SMARTPHONES have become the hub of our daily lives and are now in the pockets of two-thirds of UK adults, while the vast majority of young people own one.

Even half of 55 to 64-year-olds now own a smartphone.

The Ofcom 2015 Communications Market Report highlights the urgent need for radical changes to be made to the 999 emergency service so that those in need can text as well as call.

Much of the technology we need to update our emergency service is available today. But we urgently need to make progress now, with clear ownership from government and ministerial leadership.

A data-based emergency service would allow people to text alerts via any appropriate app on a chosen easy-to-remember special number, such as 999 – and these alerts would then be passed to the human emergency operator.

The main engineering challenge would be to set up priority routing of alerts to this special number in order to avoid delays at busy times.

This needs to be arranged in consultation with the main mobile and app-based text providers, and with makers of new technology like wearables that might aid or even make emergency calls.

Amanda takes pride in her allotment

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

By Shafi Musaddique

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

SPADE or garden fork in hand, green-fingered Amanda Lavell "digs" working on her allotment with unbridled passion.

As a holder of a rented plot, she confesses to being at her happiest in dungarees weeding, raking and tenderly nurturing the small vegetable patch, of which she is extremely proud.

And the 60-year-old is keen to champion the benefits and encourage other Enfield residents to give it a try as up and down the country plot holders celebrate National Allotment Week, which is running until Sunday.

Often viewed as an isolated activity, she says the perception couldn't be more wrong.

Tending her plot at Woodcraft Wildspace nature reserve, in Winchmore Hill, has given her the chance to forge friendships with other allotment holders.

"There is a real sense of community," she says. "We brew up a pot of tea and share cakes and there is always someone willing to offer advice or a helping hand. It really is therapeutic."

Founded by her husband Bob, the three-acre nature reserve, opened in 2003, was a disused and overgrown cricket ground.

Amanda, of Orpington Road, Winchmore Hill, did not acquire her allotment until two years ago, having previously worked with schools as part of educational initiatives at the nature reserve.

Now she visits the allotment at least three times a week and would be there more often if she had the time to spare.

"I've managed to grow peas, spinach, beetroot, broccoli and runner beans," she says proudly.

"My children love to eat them, especially my six-month-old grandson, who loves to chew on the tender beans."

She says the food she grows is fresher and more nutritious than the produce available in supermarkets – and is also much cheaper.

Enfield Council, which has 3,000 plots across 37 allotment spaces available to residents in the borough, recommends it for a healthy lifestyle.

"There is nothing more satisfying than growing and consuming your own healthy produce yourself," said Daniel Anderson, cabinet member for environment.

Staying on schedule: One athlete wears a watch to keep track of time and stroke

The loneliness of the long-distance runner: Chris Ore runs through Lee Valley Park during the aquathlon

By Shafi Musaddique

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

READY, steady, swim! Fighting fit and raring to go across vast distances, amphibious go-getters plunged their way across open waters and grass at the Lee Valley White Water Centre Aquathlon last Tuesday.

Pushing their endurance skills to the limit, 56 triathletes swam 500 metres before running five kilometres through the Lee Valley Park, starting at the white water centre at Waltham.

A further 12 competitors took part in the 250 metres and three kilometres short race.

Event organiser Fieke Reijntjes said aquathlon has seen a surge in popularity since it was launched three years ago.

She said: "It's great to see so many people taking part who are not only keen to race against one another, but also to improve their personal best."

"We always look at how we can get more people involved and with the water quality and beautiful run route through the park, the aquathlon at Lee Valley White Water Centre is a great event that is suitable for novice and experienced participants."

Journey's end: Gavin Price is cheered over the finishing line; inset, having completed two laps of the lake athletes took off their wetsuits and donned running shoes

You'd be mad to miss it

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

NICKNAMES are customary for blues artists and, like the legendary greats, Enfield musician Dave Barnes has his own "handle", although he can't recall how he came by the moniker "Mad Dog".

The self-taught 68-year-old slide guitarist and harmonica player, who performs this Sunday afternoon with the band The Low Down Dogs at Broomfield Park, in Aldermans Hill, Palmers Green, says: "It's lost in the midst of time. I picked it up when I was with a former band, but it's stuck. I'm a calm person."

Fellow band member and bassist Dave Thomas, a joint organiser of the annual Broomfield Blues Festival, now in its fourth year, observes jokingly: "He has a bit of a temper, that could possibly be an explanation".

The four-piece electric and acoustic combo plays Mississippi, Memphis and Chicago blues and perform on the park's bandstand in the third of a series of five concerts being held on Sundays from 1.30pm to 5.30pm until August 30.

Also appearing are Tressell, playing Celtic, Americana and old time blues on vintage instruments.

The festival is a showcase for many of the bands and artists who feature on a Friday night at the St Harmonica's Blues Club, in St Monica's Parish Centre, Cannon Hill, Southgate, run by the North London Vintage Blues Association.

Mad Dog, who lives in The Ridgeway, Enfield, has been playing blues as a solo performer in bands since his early 30s and first fell in love with the music a teenager when a school friend lent him a Lighting Hopkins album. "I never looked back after that, or returned the record," he confesses.

He also recalls how in the 1960s Edmonton's Cooks Ferry Inn in Angel Road was the mecca for blues enthusiasts with top American acts including Howlin' Wolf, John Lee Hooker, Big Mama Thornton – who recorded Nothing But a Hound Dog before Elvis made it famous – and Buddy Guy appearing there.

"The British actually sparked a revival in the popularity of blues which had faded in America when bands such as The Rolling Stones, Cream, The Yardbirds, Fleetwood Mac and Led Zeppelin, who had been influenced by blues legends like Muddy Waters, Howlin' Wolf and Robert Johnson, renewed interest Stateside," he explained.

All aboard the runaway train

Trainwreck (15) 125 mins

AWARD-winning comedian and writer Amy Schumer raises her skirt to political correctness and gleefully flashes sexual inequality with this potty-mouthed comedy that is far from the debacle promised by the title.

Directed at a lick by Judd Apatow, who temporarily lost his mojo after Knocked Up in 2007, Trainwreck is a hilarious and heart-warming portrait of modern womanhood.

Throughout two uproarious hours, Schumer is the butt of her own expertly targeted jokes — and she generously shares sparkling one-liners around the excellent ensemble cast.

In particular, she creates a hysterical supporting role for Oscar-winning British actress Tilda Swinton as a monstrous magazine editor, who demands gung-ho, headline-grabbing titillation, not gently worded, sentimental froth.

There's a thin glaze of sweetness to pivotal moments between female characters in Schumer's script and an emotionally raw scene at a funeral deftly tugs the heartstrings.

Yet, for its adherence to rom-com tropes, Trainwreck is laced with sufficient biting wit and self-effacement to drink The Hangover and its crude imitators under the table and seal victory with a rousing belch.

At nine years old, Amy Townsend (Amy Schumer) learns a most valuable lesson about human relationships from her embittered father (Colin Quinn).

"Monogamy isn't realistic," he tells Amy and her little sister Kim, encouraging the girls to chant this as a mantra.

Twenty-three years later, Amy has taken those words to her booze-soaked heart, enjoying numerous anonymous sexual encounters, while dating a muscle-bound hunk called Steven (John Cena), whose prowess leaves a lot to be desired.

In stark contrast, sister Kim (Brie Larson) has settled down with her knitwear-clad husband Tom (Mike Birbiglia).

"You dress him like that just so no one else wants to have sex with him?" quips Amy, mocking her sibling's domestic bliss.

When Amy isn't picking up men in bars, she works at lifestyle magazine S'Nuff with kooky best friend Nikki (Vanessa Bayer).

Out of the blue, editor Dianna (Swinton) assigns Amy to pen a profile on sports doctor Aaron Connors (Bill Hader), who is good friends with basketball superstar LeBron James (playing himself).

Amy knows almost nothing about sport, but she obliges and sparks an unlikely romance with the kind-hearted medic that threatens to unravel the tattered fabric of her bed-hopping existence.

Trainwreck is a wicked delight that asserts independent, single women have the same right as men to enjoy carefree sexual escapades without being labelled a hussy.

Schumer instantly endears us to her self-destructive 30-something, who has to hit rock bottom before she can begin the slow, painful ascent back to healthy self-respect.

Hader is an adorable comic foil and sparring partner and on-screen

Delight: Amy Schumer and Bill Hader

chemistry between the two leads simmers beautifully.

Supporting performances are equally memorable, including amusing cameos from Daniel Radcliffe and Marisa Tomei.

Jump on board Schumer's runaway, filthy-minded train of thought and hold on tight.

Annual Graduation Ceremony held for school leavers at HEAD START Day Nursery in Crews Hill, Enfield!

Pre-school children at Head Start day nursery in Crews Hill, Enfield were delighted to receive their Graduation Certificates at a recent ceremony for school leavers.

Lucy Speechley, the Nursery Manager, said, "The children were so excited, many of the children have been at our nursery since they were babies and although the children will be missed they are all well prepared for the next phase of their schooling."

She added, "The nursery in Crews Hill has 'outstanding' outside play areas and what makes our nursery quite unique is our extensive grounds – it is proven that children benefit tremendously from regular sustained periods of play in a rich and stimulating outdoor environment.

"It supports children's problem-solving skills and nurtures their creativity, as well as providing opportunities for their developing imagination, inventiveness and resourcefulness."

Although the pre-school is full with a long waiting list, the nursery is now busy taking admissions for the new generation of babies in the Under 2's nursery.

For more information and discuss availability please call 01438 840 681.

Putting money matters on school curriculum

MILLIONS of children will find themselves gaining a better insight into money matters as the new school term gets under way.

Financial education has been included in England's national curriculum for the first time, bringing it into line with the rest of the UK.

The move means that personal finance will now be taught in secondary school citizenship education lessons, helping the next generation to understand how money is used and the importance of setting and managing a budget.

Teenagers will learn about credit, debt, insurance, savings and pensions, along with other financial products. The financial education elements of secondary school maths are also being strengthened, with the new curriculum putting an explicit statutory emphasis on "financial mathematics".

A survey of teachers recently carried out by charity pfeg (Personal Finance Education Group) found that 83 per cent said money skills should be taught at primary school level to be most effective, and 70 per cent are seeing evidence that children are encountering financial decisions earlier in life than they used to.

Pfeg's director of education Steve Stillwell says: "Financial education's new place in the national curriculum is an important leap forward for our cause, but there is much more to do.

"We know from experience that the earlier financial education begins, the more effective it is in giving young people the money management skills they need.

Mums and dads can do their bit to help children understand money by kicking off light conversations around the subject from an early age, whether it's chatting to them about prices as they're being taken around the supermarket, or simply letting them handle coins and notes.

■ The MAS has some tips on how to engage children with money at www.moneyadvice.service.org.uk/en/you-your-kids-and-money.

EDUCATION FOR LIFE 2015

Hats off to high-flyers celebrating graduation

STUDENTS from two Tottenham primary schools have become the first graduates of the all-new Tottenham University.

For more than five months, 24 students from St Francis de Sales in Church Road, and St Paul's and All Hallows' school in Park Lane have been participating in a programme partly funded by Haringey Council which designed to motivate high-achieving students to pursue a university education.

The Tottenham University scheme has seen students from both schools complete activities including visiting five museums, reading five books from their local library, interviewing children's author Michael Rosen, watching a West End play and being shown around both Parliament and Oxford University.

Nine-year-old Benjamin from St Paul's and All Hallows', explained: "We started Tottenham University because there isn't a university in Tottenham and we are the next generation. This project really pushed me to extend my learning and gave me deep thoughts about what I can do in the future."

Olivia, aged nine, from St Francis de Sales said: "My experience in taking part in Tottenham University has been very encouraging and a great pleasure. My favourite trip was to the theatre and watching The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time. I really enjoyed it because it was so interesting. This theatre lifted up my life to believe in myself."

At the graduation ceremony the students each gave a one-minute presentation on their experiences over the last five months and were presented with a graduation certificate from the Mayor of Haringey, Councillor Jennifer Mann.

Councillor Ann Waters, Haringey Council's cabinet member for children and families, said: "This scheme is a fantastic example of what's possible when schools, the council and the wider community work together to help encourage local children to achieve their full potential."

EDUCATION FOR LIFE 2015

Child literacy's the goal of new reading scheme

READING is a vital skill that every parent wants their child to learn, yet almost half of UK mums and dads admit they lack the confidence and know-how to help improve their child's reading at home.

But there is help at hand, both through a programme which uses footballers as role models to change children's attitudes towards reading, and through a new guide highlighting fun ways to help kids learn to read.

National Literacy Trust research has found that less than a third of young people read outside school every day, so it's joined up with the Premier League to run Premier League Reading Stars, an annual initiative which has enlisted the help of 20 Premier League footballers to use children's passion for football to motivate them to enjoy reading.

On the campaign website, players including Frank Lampard, Adam Lallana, Joey Barton and Boaz Myhill explain why they enjoy reading and how they've decided on their favourite adult and children's books. The players have also set literacy challenges for participating children, allowing them to unlock statistics, tips and videos from each footballer as they progress through the online programme.

Schools and libraries involved with Reading Stars are also delivering weekly football-themed 'fixtures', or literacy sessions, focusing on different types of reading, such as newspapers, fiction, non-fiction and the internet.

The Reading Stars programme is aimed at children aged between seven and 15 years, but parents seeking help to improve the reading of younger children may gain inspiration from the new free online guide How To Help Your Child To Read: 30 Ways In 30 Days, published by the reading products company LeapFrog, and compiled by the educational expert and editor of The Good Schools Guide, Janette Wallis.

Cedar Park Nurseries and Pre-Schools are set in beautiful, historic buildings ideally located within Enfield and Hoddesdon, allowing our children to benefit from fantastic learning environments. Our large grounds also offer extensive opportunities for outdoor play.

At Cedar Park Nursery, we teach little ones how to learn from play, how to communicate and socialise with the people who share their world and provide them with opportunities to discover the world around them.

We offer parents the highest quality childcare and a preschool education of excellence for every child in our care. Parents can leave their child with confidence, knowing that they are in a happy, safe, and loving environment. We enjoy a longstanding reputation for the exceptionally high standards that our children achieve within the Early Years Foundation Stage.

All children in our care have the opportunity to develop to their full potential through the provision of active, challenging and enjoyable experiences that motivate them to become lifelong learners. Our fully qualified and experienced staff understand the importance of the development of each child and recognise that each child is unique.

First Steps - The Alice Nursery

(Girls only pre-prep for Palmers Green High School for 3-4 year olds)

At the Alice Nursery we pride ourselves on offering a first-rate pre-prep experience, led by our Nursery Manager (a fully trained and experienced teacher) and her specialist Early Years Trained staff. Girls flourish in an atmosphere of calm excitement and purposeful engagement as they discover the world around them through a variety of carefully planned activities linked to a weekly theme. As soon as they are ready to begin to read they are encouraged to do so, being taught by fully-trained staff with a working knowledge of education beyond Nursery.

The girls have experienced a host of fun-filled trips and events that have kept them busy throughout this academic year. Annual highlights included the Nursery Nativity, Sports

Day, trip to Willows Farm and Paradise Wildlife Park, and visits from Uncle Vic and his 'mini beasts' and Edmonton Fire Brigade.

Whilst the Alice Nursery is currently full there are some vacancies for the next academic year. Girls may join after their third birthday and families are welcome to visit during our regular Wednesday Open Mornings. However, please be aware that the colourful and welcoming environment of the nursery often means that prospective parents - and especially their daughters - often don't want to leave!

To book an appointment to view the Nursery or for further information, please call 020 8886 1135 or email office@palmersgreen.enfield.sch.uk or visit www.pghs.co.uk

EDUCATION FOR LIFE 2015

When should children learn the facts of life?

IT'S not easy to talk to children about the birds and the bees, and some parents are so embarrassed about it, they leave the job to their child's school.

But because it's not a statutory part of the national curriculum, sex education in primary schools is patchy – which leaves the worrying possibility that children will learn about sex and relationships from other ill-informed children.

The Government is currently looking at whether personal, social, health and economic (PSHE) education, including sex and relationships education (SRE), ought to be made statutory in primary schools – and new research suggests parents think it should.

A Sex Education Forum survey of parents of children aged 4-16 found the overwhelming majority want important aspects of SRE to be taught in primary schools, with schools teaching a balanced curriculum that helps pupils understand their bodies, appropriate behaviour, and online safety.

More than three-quarters (78 per cent) of the parents surveyed wanted their children to learn about the difference between safe and unwanted touch and how to speak up if someone treats them inappropriately, while 72 per cent of parents felt primary schools should educate children on what to do if they find online pictures showing private body parts or are asked to send them.

Almost two-thirds of parents (64.5 per cent) want primary schools to teach basic, medically correct terms for sexual organs such as vagina and penis, and 65.5 per cent agree that primary pupils should be taught about puberty before they start to experience changes to their body.

The coordinator of the Sex Education Forum, Lucy Emmerson, says: "This research clearly indicates that most parents want primary school pupils to be taught age-appropriate information about a range of sex and relationships topics."

CONEL's high achievers are top of the league

THE College of Haringey, Enfield and North East London (CONEL) is top of the league for Level 3 pass rates among the capital's General FE Colleges, according to the Skills Funding Agency.

The figures also show that the college, with campuses in Hertford Road, Enfield and High Road, Tottenham, is top of the London league for Success Rates overall for the second year running! Level 3 qualifications are broadly equivalent to A Level study.

Last year, more than 300 CONEL students went on to over 30 different universities, including Middlesex University, London Metropolitan University, University of Hertfordshire, London South Bank University, University of Greenwich and University of Westminster. 13 high performing students went to elite Russell Group Universities, including six who went to Kings College London.

Last year, 865 students successfully completed Level 3 courses, and 86 achieved Distinctions in all of their subjects, the equivalent of gaining straight As at A Level.

Courses at CONEL are designed for people who enjoy learning through practical, real-life activities and want to improve not just their qualifications, but their chances of getting a good job, either before or after university. Instead of traditional A Level courses, CONEL's students follow Advanced BTEC or other vocational courses, which are accepted by UK universities as equivalent to A Levels.

Unlike most sixth forms, CONEL students are taught by professionals who have real experience of working in industry. In many cases work is set and assessed by employers who work closely with the College; so the content is modern and relevant. The mixture of younger and older students on CONEL's courses means that there is a focus on maturity and responsibility right from the start.

College Principal Andy Forbes, said: "Here at CONEL it's not just about passing it's also about progressing to the next step in your education or career. We provide a high quality alternative to traditional sixth form – and our results prove how successful this is. And if CONEL's students decide that they don't want to go to university, they can go straight into employment or start an apprenticeship – so coming to college is a good way of keeping your options open."

To find out more about courses and apprenticeships at CONEL, visit www.conel.ac.uk/courses.html

Nightingale Academy is a learning community that aims to maximise the life chances of our students and to raise the quality of outcomes for all. We will achieve this by setting aspirational goals – inspiring, challenging, respecting and trusting each other every single day.

What makes Nightingale Academy Special?

✓ OUR WELCOME – The experience begins at Nightingale Academy with a supportive transition from year 5 to year 7, making it as easy and enjoyable as possible.

✓ OUR COMMITMENT – At Nightingale Academy we have a commitment to excellence and a clear focus on every pupil. We provide a diverse curriculum to suit all abilities, talents and needs. This is extended to our 6th form which runs specialist courses for students to move on to further education, employment or training.

✓ INTERNATIONAL OUTLOOK – Nightingale Academy has a highly developed International ethos. This has been forged and nurtured through a multitude of international projects and links with schools across Europe. EU founded projects such as Comenius and Erasmus+.

✓ STATE OF THE ART FACILITIES – The Academy completed its building work in September 2014 with state of the art sports and study facilities to support our students' learning and progression.

✓ TOTTENHAM HOTSPURS FOUNDATION – We provide a unique partnership with Tottenham Hotspur Foundation, where students have the opportunity to develop their skills and fitness. This is also supported by providing apprenticeship and careers' programmes.

✓ EMPLOYABILITY – At Nightingale Academy we offer a full and exciting careers education programme, working with students of all ages from Year 7 through to Sixth Form.

Our recent OFSTED inspection report states:

"Parents are supportive of the school with many parents agreeing that they would recommend the Academy to other parents."

St. Mary's
CHURCH OF ENGLAND HIGH SCHOOL

In the last St Mary's survey of parents/carers, 96% indicated that their child is happy and felt safe at St Mary's and 95% said that they would recommend the school to another parent/carer.

The reasons for this high level of confidence come from parents/carers knowing that their child is well looked after and that the school makes sure students are well behaved and well taught at the school.

Recent inspections by Ofsted in January 2015 judged the school to be 'a good school'. SIAMS Church school inspectors visiting in May 2015 evaluated St Mary's as 'an outstanding church school' stating 'the inclusive and personalised approach to learning makes certain that every student can fulfil their potential'.

St Mary's CE High School has had a very successful year following excellent results in summer 2014, placing the school in the top 20% of similar schools in the country and confirming emphatically that 'students from all backgrounds make good progress and finish key stage 4 with standards of attainment which are above the national average' (Ofsted 2015). During 2014/15 the school gained the nationally recognised 'Achievement for All (AfA)' Award to add to the Basic Skills Mark, the Investors in Careers (IiC) Award and was accredited with meeting the standards for 'Quality in Study Support (QiSS)'.

Parents/carers are invited to visit the school to meet our students and see for themselves the work that we do.

Our Open evening is on Wednesday 9th September 2015 from 6.30-8.30pm and our Sixth Form Open Evening is on Tuesday 6th October 6-8pm. Please see the school website for more information or contact the school on 01992 629124. We look forward to the opportunity of meeting you soon!

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:
1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice.
Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent',
'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republishing or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All ad accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1964.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.
Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-reference agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches for the purpose of making credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other 'Indie Group Newspaper' companies or carefully selected companies.
We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.
Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

SPURS SO UNLUCKY

Encouraging signs: Christian Eriksen feels that Tottenham can take heart from their performance on Saturday

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

CHRISTIAN ERIKSEN insists that Tottenham Hotspur can take positives out of their display at Manchester United even though they began their Premier League campaign with a 1-0 defeat on Saturday.

Spurs started brightly at Old Trafford and the Danish international squandered a good chance in just the fourth minute, but they fell behind to a Kyle Walker own goal midway through the first half and were unable to get back on level terms despite late pressure – during which time Eriksen was twice thwarted by home keeper Sergio Romero.

“We’re playing for points and we didn’t get any,” Eriksen said. “We were unlucky in my opinion and I think the way we played – especially the way we started – gives us some positive things to take away with us.

“We created chances, especially in the first 20 minutes and if we play like that in every game then we’ll win a lot of matches.

“Once I got the ball for my early chance I knew there was only one way to score and that was to lift it. Unfortunately I gave it a bit too much power and it went a bit high. It’s something that we can build on, going to Old Trafford and creating chances.”

And head coach Mauricio Pochettino insists that he felt his side did not deserve to end up with nothing to show for their efforts in the match.

“We played very well and we’re pleased with our performance but disappointed with the defeat,” he said. “For the first 20 minutes we managed the game well, we dominated and created chances.

“We were unlucky because we conceded a goal through our first mistake. After that, it’s true, United started to play at the same level as us, but in the second half we deserved to score again.

“We finished the game in a high tempo and showed we’re in a good way. We need to be happy. We’re at a good level and we need to believe.

“It was very different from last season when we didn’t have a chance. This time we deserved not only a draw but maybe a win.”

Pochettino largely kept faith with last season’s squad in his starting line-up, but he did hand a debut to summer signing Toby Alderweireld – who played at the heart of their defence alongside fellow Belgian international Jan Vertonghen.

“It’s difficult to talk about yourself after a defeat,” Alderweireld said. “The stats say it all – we didn’t give them anything and defensively we worked very hard. We have to be confident for the Stoke game [this Saturday] now and when we get our chances we have to take them.

“It’s always difficult at Old Trafford. We were right in the game, defensively we were strong and restricted them to very few chances, which was good. If we keep at this level then the results will come.”

Defeat effectively ends hopes of title

ANY slim chance that North Middlesex had of being crowned champions of the Premier Division of the Middlesex County Cricket League is surely over after they slumped to a 59-run defeat at Twickenham on Saturday.

Bowling first, Ed Bird (3-32) got North Middlesex off to an excellent start by helping reduce the hosts to 43-4 before Twickenham were rescued by a fifth-wicket stand of 59 between Shawn Hicks (49) and Carlos Nunes (36).

However, Nunes’ departure sparked a collapse which saw four wickets fall for the addition of four runs to leave the hosts’ innings in tatters at 106-8.

Hicks held firm as wickets tumbled around him though, and Rashid Mullahzadah (37) joined him in a crucial partnership of 51 for the ninth wicket as Twickenham eventually made it up to 189. Tom Nicoll (4-72) was the most successful bowler.

North Middlesex lost both openers for ducks as their reply got off to the worst possible start, and Nicoll (66) was the only man to offer any real resistance in the face of some fine bowling from Parminder Singh (6-38) as they were dismissed for 130.

Meanwhile, Hornsey ensured that they remain in the hunt for promotion from Division Two by securing a 46-run victory at home to Uxbridge.

James Bull and Patrick Joseph both made 52 as the hosts posted a total of 218-6 batting first and Sean Solia then took 5-37 as Uxbridge could only reach 172 in reply.

And Highgate maintained their charge towards the Division Three title by overcoming visiting Bessborough by 52 runs.

Craig Gourlay (39) and William Brookes (36) were the main contributors as Highgate made 179 before Hashen Ramanayake took 4-42 to help dismiss the visitors for 127 in reply.

But North London are still bottom of the table after suffering an agonising one-wicket defeat at Barnes.

Hussain Shabbir top-scored with 51 and Sam Bardon added 48 as North London amassed 172 batting first, with Alex Scott taking 5-49 – including a hat-trick.

Bardon (4-52) also impressed with ball, but it was not quite enough for the visitors as Tom Harwood’s 79 played the key role in helping Barnes to reach 178-9.

North Middlesex host Stanmore on Saturday, while Hornsey visit Harrow St Mary’s and North London entertain Highgate.

Athletes relegated from the top flight

THE senior men’s team at Enfield and Haringey Athletic Club suffered the bitter disappointment of being relegated from the Premier Division of the British Athletics League after they could only finish seventh when they hosted the final meeting of the season at the Lee Valley Athletics Centre on Saturday.

The highlight of a difficult day for the club came in the 3,000metres steeplechase where they secured a double triumph as Ben Nagy won the A-string (8minutes 50.84seconds) and William Mycroft took the B-string (9mins 27.56secs).

Khai Riley-Laborde was runner-up in the A-string 110m hurdles (14.12secs), while there were third-placed finishes from Tom Pye in the A-string 800m (1min 51.41secs), Ben Snaith in the A-string 200m (21.54secs), Joshua Bones in the A-string triple jump (14.83secs) and the 4x100m relay team of Mark Hanson, Kyron Williams, Ramone Smith and Snaith (40.88secs).

However, Enfield and Haringey managed to maintain their place in the Premier Division of the United Kingdom’s Women’s League despite coming last when the season reached its conclusion in Eton over the weekend.

Caroline Parkinson won the B-string pole vault (3.40m), while Nicola Gilbert was second in the A-string 100m (12.04secs).

HNCs and HNDs for Higher Education Study

The College offers HNCs and HNDs in:

- Applied Biology
- Computing and Systems Development
- Animation and Games Design
- Music Production
- Hairdressing and Beauty Therapy Management
- Advanced Practise in Work with Children and families

HNCs are equivalent to the first year of degree study and an HND is equivalent to the second year. The tuition fees are much lower than those charged by a university and are ideal for students who prefer to study at College.

Once you've completed your HNC, you could move into employment or progress to your HND. You could then move to university in your final year to convert your HND to a full honours degree.

“ I enjoyed my Creative and Media Level 3 course so much that I progressed to the HNC. ”

Nkakini Echeonwu

HNC Animation and Games Design Level 4

“ I find ICT and Computing fascinating and I have a great enthusiasm to explore new areas of knowledge, accumulate my skills and engage with innovative ideas. I am committed to my studies and highly motivated to achieve my targets.”

Paul Cowgill
